How can you

In the exam, they will most likely face unfamiliar artworks done in a variety of materials across an range of genres - they can use art books and the internet to look at examples of artworks to practice their analysis skills. They can also use their 'All You Need To Know Guides' (Google Classrooms) and their flash card prompts to consider the different prompts they will be asked to discuss in the exam questions)
- Help your child to revise their Art and Design studies to ensure they can confidently recall facts relating to their mandatory question and make judgements based on the artists and artworks they have been studying in class.
- Access the SQA website and download past papers and marking instructions.
