Sanderson's Wynd Primary School and NHS Lothian Speech and Language Therapy department are undertaking a project during this academic year.

The aims of this project are to support the children's literacy skills through developing their speech, language and communication skills.

Staff training on how to support speech, language and communication needs in the classroom.

Gathering information and assessments of the children's speech, language and communication skills.

Introducing interventions (games, activities, tasks) to the classroom. These might be run by your child's teacher or the Speech and Language Therapist.

Interventions will be delivered in the classroom, and available for all children. This is what we call a Universal approach. The Speech and Language Therapist will not be working with individual children as part of this project.

Please get in touch if you have any questions about this project.
