

The Futures Fair: Thursday 6th November, drop in between 2pm and 5pm, The Brunton Hall, Musselburgh

I'm delighted to invite you to The Futures Fair 2014.

The Futures Fair is an information fair to help you to plan for adult life. It's for young people with additional support needs and their families.

We'll have approximately 50 organisations who can tell you about what they offer and how they can help with:

- Education
- Work and training
- Money advice
- Social work and health
- Social life and leisureand much more!

The fair can help you to think about what you want to do with your future. You can meet people who can advise and support you, and your family.

Hundreds of people have come to the fair in the last few years. Here's what people told us following previous years:

'It was useful having all the support and services in one place and being able to ask questions face to face. Fab!'

'I enjoyed myself finding out my opportunities when I leave school'

We will also have young people there who can talk to you about what they did when they left school, and you can watch a film about their experiences.

The fair is free - there will be refreshments and a space to relax and chill-out.

Come along and find out what's out there for you in East Lothian and beyond - looking forward to seeing you there!
