

Over the past few years, the use of social media has grown to the point where most adults are now connected in some way. A growing number of children are also taking to sites such as Facebook and Instagram. Whilst most are using these sites sensibly, cases of grooming and cyber-bullying are on the rise. As a result most social media sites have an age limit and are not permitted for use by children. Facebook, Instagram and Twitter all carry an age restriction of 13 years. Please be vigilant when allowing your child access to these sites and be aware that other social media sites and apps may not be suitable for under 18s.
